

BARBARA RUSH

(Biography)

Barbara Rush, who plays Cathy's mother, Mrs. Featherstone, has starred in feature films, television and theater, performing opposite such male superstars as Paul Newman, Marlon Brando, Rock Hudson, Frank Sinatra and Richard Burton. Barbara also starred in Randal Kleiser's first film "Peege," which launched the director's impressive career.

Her feature film credits include: "Magnificent Obsession," "Love is a Many Splendored Thing," "Hombre," "Come Blow Your Horn," "Robin and the Seven Hoods," "The Young Philadelphians" and "The Bramble Bush."

Barbara's theatrical accomplishments are numerous. She won the Sarah Siddons Award for her performance in the National Company of "Forty Carats" and received unanimous praise in the National Company of "Same Time Next Year." She both produced and starred in "Father's Day" which also featured her "Summer Lovers" co-star, Carole Cook.

Ms. Rush has appeared on countless television dramas and variety shows, including "Marcus Welby," "Medical Center," "Love Boat," and "Fantasy Island." She currently stars as Eudora Weldon in the hit NBC series "Flamingo Road."

"Summer Lovers" is a Randal Kleiser Production, written and directed by Kleiser. Mike Moder was the producer and Joel Dean was executive producer. It is a Filmways Picture.

* * *